Art Unit: 3744

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-271 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. These claims fail to point out and distinctly claim the invention because they do not set forth the positive steps or structure to carry out the invention but rather claim intended results. For example, claim 1 recites that the method and apparatus offers a complete air-fluid distribution, control and management system ... that determines total system losses versus total system gains ... able to match appropriate movers to suitable distributions system ... ; claim 34 recites method and apparatus that features an innovative system of determining ... ; claim 41 recites method and apparatus that correctly employs non-linear thermal dynamic measurements ... ; etc. Reference is made to the cited Morris and Ginn et al patents that illustrate proper claim format.

The specification is objected to under 37 CFR 1.74 because it does not provide reference numerals or letters to the various different parts of the invention.
